* Some verbs which end in /m/, /n/ or /l/ can form the past with -ed or -t: dreamed/dreamt, learned/learnt, spelled/spelt

- after /t/ and /d/, say /ɪd/
wait → waited, add → added

Weak forms

a/an (Lesson 1.3)

We usually use the weak vowel /ə/ in a and an:
He's a doctor. It's an answering machine.

can/can't (Lesson 3.2)

We can say can in two ways. We usually use the weak form /kən/ in statements and questions:

I can swim. Can you swim?

We use the strong form /kæn/ in short answers:

Yes, I can.

We always use the strong form of can't /kɑ:nt/ in statements, questions and short answers:

I can't swim. Can't you swim? No, I can't.

Comparatives (Lesson 9.1)

In comparative sentences the -er ending is always weak:
It's colder here.

We usually say than with the weak vowel /ə/ too:
She's slimmer than me.

been (Lesson 10.2)

In Present Perfect sentences we pronounce been as /bɪn/:
Have you been to Australia?

going to (Lesson 12.1)

With going to we always use the weak vowel /ə/ in to:
We're going to take the train.

Stress

Main stress (Lessons 1.1, 3.3, 5.3)

When we say a word with more than one syllable, we stress one syllable more than the others. This syllable has the main stress:

mountain, beautiful, apartment, information.

You can check the main stress of a word in a dictionary. They often show it like this: 'maʊntɪn

Contrastive stress (Lesson 6.3)

Sometimes, we want to answer a question with information that is different from the information in the question, e.g.

Were you born in London?

No, I was born in Mumbai.

We always stress the different information.

No, I was born in Mumbai.

Sentence stress (Lessons 8.1, 12.1)

We stress one or two words more than other words in a sentence. We usually stress the words which have 'meaning', e.g. the nouns and verbs, and not the 'grammar' words, e.g. pronouns and articles:

She's dancing. They're talking. Are you listening?

She's going to get fit. We're going to learn French.

Intonation

Intonation of yes/no questions (Lesson 9.3)

Use a rising intonation (↗) in most questions we answer with yes or no.

Are you ready?

Is it expensive?

Do you like going to museums?

Intonation of wh- questions (Lesson 11.2)

Our voice often falls when we ask a wh- question. It falls on the main verb.
