THE UNIVERSITY OF CAGLIARI

WE ARE HERE

The University of Cagliari, with its strategic position in the middle of the Mediterranean Sea, welcomes 26,000 students every year, thanks to its vast educational offering which includes more than 90 programmes (both bachelor and master), 40 specialisation schools and 19 PhD programmes.

The University of Cagliari operates satellite campuses in the entire region of Sardinia: a degree programme in Nursing in Nuoro; a specialisation in Economics and Management of Tourist Services and one in Industrial and Environmental Biotechnology in Oristano; a newly launched degree programme in Naval Engineering in Olbia.

UniCa also offers study and training opportunities abroad for students and the larger academic community as well as its administrative staff.

Classrooms, libraries and laboratories are distributed across four main hubs, in downtown, and the university campus of Monserrato, all of them easily accessible through public transport. In addition to the facilities designed for study and training, there are also student dormitories, university cafeterias, sports facilities and reading rooms set in a highly dynamic and culturally lively metropolitan context surrounded by museums, theatres, cinemas, natural parks and breathtaking beaches.

INTERNATIONAL

The University of Cagliari engages with the world through its numerous activities:

- the promotion and implementation of incoming and outgoing international mobility programmes dedicated to students, and also to researchers, teaching and technical-administrative staff and librarians;
- the development of strategies for research and teaching supporting the interaction and collaboration with international universities and strategic partners;
- special welcoming programmes for students arriving from conflict zones and for refugees and students under international/humanitarian protection.

THIRD MISSION

The University of Cagliari is deeply rooted in the territory through the initiatives of the Third Mission which are aimed towards disseminating knowledge and creating an inclusive university community open to dialogue.

It is a commitment which is realised through concrete initiatives such as: the organisation of cultural events open to citizens; collaboration with business enterprises, scholastic institutions, institutions and associations to foster technology transfer; improving access to historical, artistic and cultural heritage of the university; supporting career guidance and the publication of science, and continuing education.

Of particular importance is the dissemination of a culture of sustainability, in accordance with the goals of the UN 2030 Agenda (SDGs).

Many of the initiatives have been implemented in three directions:

- Environmental: energy efficiency measures; monitoring and increase of green areas; installation of drinking fountains to encourage tap water consumption, and plastic-free food and beverage machines;
- Economic: incentivising a circular economy, allocation of a budget for sustainability;
- Social: activation of the gender equality plan; baby card and pink room projects; activation of a university centre for penitentiaries.
